GOVERNMENT KEEPS EYE ON COAL FIELDS

Sporadic Walkouts Lead Emphasis to Negotiations On New Contract Demands

LEWIS STILL MISSING

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—The government reported mine shut-downs spreading in the soft coal fields today as John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers talked contract with the Coal Mines Administration.

The Solid Fuels Administration reported that 8,250 miners and 55 mines were idle in southern West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, compared to 5,700 in 42 mines Friday.

The agency made no effort to explain the widespread shut-downs in the area, known as bituminous producing district No. 8.

Union field officials have attributed the idleness to unrest and misunderstanding over whether the contract still was in force after Nov. 1 when negotiations with the government began.

Lewis remained away from today's conference, as he did Friday when the first session was held.

The union's negotiating committee, headed by vice president John O'Leary, met with Navy Capt. N. H. Colossion, Coal Mines Administrator.

Reports from Kentucky told of ten mines shut down and some 1,800 miners idle in stoppages attributed by United Mine Workers officials to "restlessness over contract negotiations" and a union campaign to defeat Rep. May (D-KY) in tomorrow's election.

A spokesman for the Navy Coal Mines Administration in Pittsburgh reported, however, that there were no walkouts in Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, Ohio and Maryland.

As fresh reports from the field were awaited, the Federal Coal Mines Administration expressed willingness to credit the walkout of some 10,000 miners last Friday and Saturday to a "misunderstanding" over the status of their working agreement.

Most of the affected pits were in West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. Union district leaders said they were trying to get the men back to work, but a spokesman for the operators said they looked for an epidemic of strikes during the negotiations.

Thus far, at least, the mine owners are simply interested bystanders to the slowly-developing struggle between Lewis and the government.

Under his present plan, the United Mine Workers chief could end his current agreement November 20.

Lewis, however, has given no fresh sign of his strategy.

He has been holding his fire for the return of secretary of the interior, J. A. Krug, top boss of the federally-seized pits, now due back in Washington Thursday from a western inspection trip.

What Lewis' specific demands will be remain to be seen. He has hinted at them in requesting that Krug re-open the contract Nov. 1.

Most government officials think, however, he will seek a cut in the present 54-hour work week, with little or no loss in take-home pay. For the full 54 hours, that is $75.20, but the average bituminous miner is working only 42.2 hours weekly, and making $62.37, the bureau of labor statistics reported in August.

Big Four Ministers Meet To Tackle Last Issues Blocking The Peace In Eastern Europe

BULLETIN
New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes met with Britain's Foreign Secretary Bevin today in the first of a series of talks preparing for the opening in late afternoon of the four foreign ministers' sessions on the eastern European peace treaties and Germany. Byrnes met Bevin in mid-morning and aides said that he planned to see Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and French Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville prior to the formal convening of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

New York, Nov. 4.—(P)—Around an oval white pine table high in a skyscraper hotel, the Big Four foreign ministers met today to tackle the last great issues blocking the peace of eastern Europe and to try, if they can, to make a start on settling the future of Germany.

Secretary of State Byrnes, Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia and Bevin of Britain, and Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France agreed to open their sessions at 4 p. m. (EST). There was some chance that Byrnes might meet one or more of the others for informal talks beforehand.

Their presence here and that of the 51-member United Nations assembly made this city for the time being the diplomatic center of the world and an arena in which Russia and the western powers may test to the limit their ability to solve critical issues of peace-making and peace-keeping.

The assembly, now operating through committees rather than in sessions already, was knee-deep in such problems as what to do about Franco Spain and how to handle vigorous small nation attacks on the veto system.

Both these issues seemed certain to have high priorities on the assembly's 65-item agenda.

The assigned task of the foreign ministers is to put into final shape peace treaties for Italy, Finland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. These treaties, together with those eventually to be written for Germany and Japan, are designed to build out of the political wreckage of the World War II peace which the United Nations was organized to make permanent and secure.

But like the United Nations—in whose sessions some of them may occasionally participate—the foreign ministers have to resolve major controversies before they can count their tasks accomplished.

The main disputes left over from the 21-nation peace conference which ended at Paris October 29 are these:

Trieste—It has been agreed that the strategic Adriatic port, claimed by both Italy and Yugoslavia, should be placed under the United Nations security council.

Another min. dispute—By the now famous vote of 15 to 6, with Russia in the minority, the Paris conference wrote into the Romanian, Hungarian and Bulgarian treaties clauses for freedom of navigation on the Danube, whose 4,000,000-ton a year pre-war traffic flow is now dried up.

Bulgarian frontiers—Russia and the other Slav states sought unsuccessfully at Paris to have western Thrace taken from Greece and awarded to Bulgaria.

Four Die In Fire In Rooming House
Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—Four persons, including a partially crippled father and his two small sons who apparently tried to rescue him, died yesterday when fire gutted a rooming house here.

At Memorial Hospital, the victims were identified as Edward Klepac, Jr., 11, and Martin Klepac, 8, his sons, and James Kelly, 46, a brewery worker. Firemen said the victims apparently were suffocated while trying to escape.

The bodies of Klepac and his sons were found just inside the door of a third floor rear room, lying face downward with Klepac in the center, his arms around the shoulders of his two sons.

Kelly was found lying across a bed in a second floor room.

Klepac's mother, Mrs. Adella Pruszyewski, owner of the house, said Klepac died and brought his sons to visit her Saturday.

Police and firemen are investigating the origin of the fire.

ARSONIST SOUGHT
Zelenople, Nov. 4.—(P)—Evidence of arson was sought today by state police investigating a fire which destroyed the Sons of Co. said $20,000 damage to the firm's warehouse here Saturday.

Police Chief Milton Berrell called in state police after a preliminary probe indicated the fire was set.

Party Leaders Look For Heavy Turnout
Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—Republican and Democratic leaders were agreed on at least one point today—that there will be a heavy turnout at the polls tomorrow.

"We anticipate one of the heaviest turnouts in years," said GOP State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, adding confidently: "The voters of Pennsylvania will give us an overwhelming victory."

Democratic State Chairman J. Warren Mickie pointed to the large increase in registrations and said tomorrow's voting "will be heavier than usual in an off-year election."

"People don't take time out to register if they don't intend to vote," said Mickie in reiterating a prediction that the Democrats will carry the state by more than 150,000 votes.

Arrested in the lobby of a swank hotel at Miami Beach, Fla., on a charge of embezzling $600,000 from a New York firm, W. Arthur Nickel, 46, allegedly informed the police that the correct figure was $750,000. He was picked up under the name of "F. Philip Hass" a few hours after New York police broadcast an alarm.

Tension High In Palestine After Rioting

Jerusalem, Nov. 4.—(P)—Police reported tension at high pitch in northern Palestine today but said there had been no repetition of the Arab-Jewish clash which brought death to five persons yesterday.

Twenty-seven persons or more were hurt in this and other disorders.

Three Arabs were killed, while two Jews were slain and nine wounded in a knife-and-club fight over land ownership at a new Jewish settlement near Lake Hula, source of the river Jordan near the country's northern border.

Feeling was reported running high at Tiberias on the sea of Galilee, south of Lake Hula.

Elsewhere in Palestine, quiet prevailed generally as Moslems celebrated the feast of Adhna with the sacrifice of hundreds of sheep and lambs. The practice commemorates Abraham's sacrifice of a lamb after first offering his son, Isaac, as a sacrifice.

A small mine exploded under a train at Batr near Jerusalem early today but did no damage.

Another mine was found on the tracks nearby and removed.

The Arab-Jewish battle was the costliest in lives since the late 1930's. The government said Arabs from a nearby village came to the Jewish settlement and charged the Jews with plowing Arab-owned land. One of the slain Jews was a settlement policeman.

One gun was brought into play during the fight, police said, but did not figure in the casualties.

Palestine Jews staged a general strike yesterday to protest British importations to Cyprus of Jews seeking to enter Palestine.

Over 6,000 Jews are held in detention camps on the island. A British communiqué issued yesterday at Nicosia, Cyprus, said the two Jews had been wounded Saturday by guards who fired to drive back a group breaking out through a fence at the Caracolos camp.

Nationalists Drive Across Chihli Gulf

Peiping, Nov. 4.—(P)—The government's offensive against Chiao exploded today into a full-scale campaign for the entire Shantung province while across the gulf of Chihli the Nationalists swiftly were squeezing the Communist army out of the Liao-tung peninsula.

As government troops continued their assault on Chefoo, the Communists' principal port of Shantung, other armies launched a campaign against the Tsingtao-Tsinan railroad, 120 miles south. Government sources said the Nationalists captured Pingtu, 54 miles north of Tsingtao.

Simultaneously, Communist remnants fled south.

Balloting in Sixteen Key States To Chart Nation's Legislative Course For Coming Two Years

GET OUT VOTE IS APPEAL OF PARTY CHIEFS

Both Sides Claim Victory At End of Hard Two-Months' Campaign In The State

LIST OF CANDIDATES

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—Appeal went out from both Republican and Democratic state headquarters today to "get out the vote" at Tuesday's general election as Pennsylvania's "gloves-off" political campaign shifted from the stump to door-bell ringing.

With the Keystone state's delegation in congress and control of the state government at stake, party workers on each side were instructed to concentrate their efforts in the next two days towards getting as many as possible of the 4,600,000 registered voters to the polls.

Both sides claimed victory at the end of a hard two-months' campaign during the charges and counter-charges were hurled back and forth by opposing candidates across the state from Republican Philadelphia in the east to Democratic Pittsburgh in the west.

J. Warren Mickie, Democratic state chairman, predicted re-election of U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey and victory for John S. Rice, the party's candidate for governor by a plurality of 150,000 votes.

The weatherman put a slight damper today on prospects of a big vote with the announcement that there will be light rain tomorrow morning followed by cloudy and cooler weather in the afternoon in the Philadelphia area and throughout most of eastern Pennsylvania.

LOOKS LIKE A WET DAY FOR PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—The weatherman put a slight damper today on prospects of a big vote with the announcement that there will be light rain tomorrow morning followed by cloudy and cooler weather in the afternoon in the Philadelphia area and throughout most of eastern Pennsylvania.

M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, on the other hand, claimed election of Governor Martin to the U. S. senate and Attorney General James H. Duff as governor by "landslide" vote.

Governor Martin said the G. O. P. would win by 290,000 votes.

In addition to U. S. senator and governor, the voters will elect two other state-wide officials, lieutenant and secretary of internal affairs; 33 representatives in congress, 208 state representatives and half of the 50 members of the state senate.

Both parties, merging state and national issues, concentrated their campaign on fights for the U. S. senate and governor.

The candidates for the other two state-wide offices are: Lieutenant Governor—State Senator John H. Dent, Westmoreland, Democrat and Daniel B. Strickler, Lancaster, Republican.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—Al Schmidt, Philadelphia, Democrat, and William S. Livengood, Jr., Somerset Republican for re-election.

A promise of aid for the AFL in the dispute came from the AFL Barbers' Union. Larry Sarbricks, business agent of local 188, said the barbers voted to strike if the teamsters need help.

HARRISBURG GETS V. F. W. CONVENTION

Harrisburg, Nov. 4.—(P)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold the 1947 convention of the Pennsylvania department in Harrisburg next July.

State Commander John U. Shroyer said that the dates had not been fixed, but that the delegates would meet on either the third or fourth week of the month, pending final arrangements on hotel accommodations.

Shroyer pointed out that 1,500 rooms would be needed to care for the VFW members, taxing to the utmost the entire hotel facilities of the Harrisburg area.

Bridget Convicted Of Manslaughter

Las Vegas, Nev., Nov. 4.—(P)—Bridget Waters, dark-haired, emotional Irish nurse who shot and killed her estranged husband Sept. 2, was at liberty on $5,000 bond today while Judge A. S. Henderson pondered the sentence he will impose Wednesday on her conviction of involuntary manslaughter.

Nevada law provides for one to five years in prison, a fine up to $1,000, or both fine and prison sentence. A jury took six ballots but Freeman Robert Wayne said none was on the state's request for a verdict of first degree murder that would have carried the death sentence.

The jury, eight men and four women, recommended that Mrs. Waters eventually be deported, inasmuch as she is a subject of Great Britain. Her 18-month-old son by the slain Frank Waters, may create, Judge Henderson said, a "conflict of laws between the British and American governments that might have to be decided in a federal court."

Medicine Man Fails When Radio Breaks

Madras, Ore., Nov. 4.—(P)—The white man's faith in his traditional source of weather information—from Chief Tommy Thompson of the Celilo tribes—has dimmed.

When a white neighbor asked the venerable chief what could be expected soon in weather, the chief gravely pronounced: "Don't know. My radio's broke."

Conspiracy Is Charged By Distributors

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4.—(P)—Attorney E. Robert Averbach said in court today that there is a "great conspiracy" between the AFL Teamsters union and "certain members" of the Western Pennsylvania Beer Distributors Association in the union "beer war."

Averbach, representing 11 association directors, argued before Judge A. Marshall Thompson against an injunction from dealing with local breweries. Brewery employees are members of a CIO union.

The court on Thursday held that all possible remedies under the union's contract with the distributors had not been exhausted, but later the union reappeared and told the court all means of reaching a settlement had been attempted.

The teamsters' threat to picket dairies delivering supplies to the breweries was called off Saturday at the request of Governor Edward Martin, who conferred with union heads.

A promise of aid for the AFL in the dispute came from the AFL Barbers' Union. Larry Sarbricks, business agent of local 188, said the barbers voted to strike if the teamsters need help.

Early End Of Pilot Strike In Prospect

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglas said today that opposing sides in the 15 day old strike of Transworld Airplane pilots have accepted in principle his proposal for arbitration.

Douglas told reporters he expects the walkout to end as soon as representatives of the company and the pilots union clarify a few points.

Douglas, chairman of the National Mediation Board, said that representatives of TWA and of the Airline Pilots Association would meet in his office today to complete the details of the arbitration agreement.

This proposed agreement would provide that the 1,400 pilots be back flying while demands or higher pay for 4-engine plane fliers and for revised working rules are (Turn to Page Nine)

Delegates Visit Roosevelt Grave

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(P)—Delegates from the 51 United Nations paid tribute to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday at ceremonies during which Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and other high ranking diplomats placed wreaths on the grave of the late president.

Molotov, in a statement to the press following the ceremony, said: "I feel that the sentiment of the Soviet delegation can best be expressed in the following terms: 'Aeternal memory to the great president Franklin D. Roosevelt.'"

These are the words I would like to utter in Hyde Park."

China, Venezuela, Canada, Yugoslavia and Nicaragua also had floral pieces on the grave.

Paul-Henri Spaak, president of the United Nations assembly, placed flowers for the U. N.

WOMAN KILLS FRIEND IN FIT OF JEALOUSY

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 4.—(P)—A 36-year-old mother of three children was held without bail yesterday after pleading innocent to a murder charge in Saturday's revolting slaying of a woman on a busy shopping street.

Mrs. Julia Greene surrendered at police headquarters shortly after the shooting of Mrs. Virginia Boston, 26, and Police Chief Leonard Mills said she admitted she had shot her former friend and neighbor "in a fit of jealousy."

Judge William N. Connell ordered her examined by psychiatrists of the state mental institution at Howard Women's Reformatory and set Nov. 14 for trial.

More Things Than Ever Will Be Available For Shoppers

Washington, Nov. 4.—(P)—If you fall into the national Christmas shopping pattern this year you will:

Buy more things than ever before, especially home appliances and similar "hard" goods, despite the high prices you'll have to pay.

That's the word of government officials generally.

They predict that the actual volume of things sold will be perhaps 10 percent greater than last year's record and that cash registers will show sales up 20 or 25 percent.

Although the soaring buying curve has leveled off somewhat this fall, storekeepers have been laying in goods hand over fist for the Christmas season.

Federal reserve board statistics show that department store stocks rose five percent during September and reached a point 36 percent greater than a year ago.

OVER 1,000 CANDIDATES TO BE CHOSEN

Result Will Decide Whether Republicans or Democrats Will Control Congress

FINAL PLEAS TONIGHT

By the Associated Press
The balloting in 16 key states appears likely to chart the nation's legislative course for the next two years when upwards of 35,000,000 voters choose tomorrow among more than 1,000 candidates for national and state offices.

These 16 states, stretching from Massachusetts to California, hold the major share of close contests which will determine Democratic or Republican control of the house and senate in the 80th congress.

Many of these same states also are among the 33 where governorships are at stake in this off-year election.

With both major parties making their usual last-minute victory claims, attention centered on a final Republican drive to wrest nine senate seats from the Democrats. Added to those which they claim already are in the bag, the nine would give the GOP control of the senate for the first time since the new deal came into power.

These seats are in New York, Massachusetts, Missouri, Idaho, Montana, Washington, West Virginia, Wyoming and New Mexico. Democrats insist they not only will win these races, but are unwilling to concede that the Republicans have a better than even chance to take over in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Wisconsin.

In the hope of cashing in on what many observers have called a trend against the "ins," the Democrats have gone out after Republican-held senate places in Kentucky and California, with what they contend are fair prospects of winning both.

These 15 states—along with Illinois which has no senatorial contest—promise to furnish the most of the vital results in the hotly contested races which GOP leaders assert will give them control of the house. The Democrats sharply dispute these victory claims.

In the house, the Republicans now have 192 members. They need to retain all of these or equivalent districts and gain 26 for the 218 which marks a clear majority. The Democrats, with 225 members, could lose a net of 17 and still maintain control. There are six vacancies and two minor parties now represented among the 435 house places.

In the senate, the Republicans must make a proportionately larger gain of 10, since they now hold only 39 of the 96 places. Democrats, with 56, could lose seven and keep their majority organization intact. Both parties are fighting for the seat of Senator Robert M. LaFollette (Prog-Wis), who was defeated in the Republican primary.

Ninety-seven candidates are in the field for 34 senate seats which will be filled in tomorrow's election.

There are 380 contestants for the 432 house seats at stake and 88 for the 33 governorships now held by 16 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

Maine already has returned Senator Owen Brewster (R) for another six-year term, kept its three house seats in the GOP column and re-elected Gov. Horace A. Hildreth (R).

Party leaders prepared to turn to the radio tonight to wind up a campaign that generally has been marked by skunk party politics at political rallies and by outward apathy of the voters to candidates' appeals on formal issues.

TWO DEAD AND FOUR HURT IN COLLISION

Ellwood City, Nov. 4.—(P)—The head-on collision of a Lawrence county-owned station wagon and an automobile near here Saturday killed two and injured four other persons.

The dead were Mrs. Maime Sleeth, about 70, of Ellwood City, and Charles Shaffer, about 65, Lawrence county employee. The injured were George Sleeth, husband of the dead woman; Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, 59, Ellwood City; E. C. McCracken, 74, and Bert Dinsmore, 68, both county employees from New Castle.

The county employees were carrying ballots which the county court had ordered reprinted because of a clerical error.

Negotiations To End Quaker City Hotel Strike Stalemated

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—(P)—Negotiations to end a walkout of service employees of three of Philadelphia's largest hotels—the Bellevue Stratford, the Sylvania and the Majestic—appeared at a standstill today.

The Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union (CIO), is seeking arbitration of all issues, including an 18 1/2-cent-an-hour wage increase, before it will consent to meet with representatives of the three hotels.

Albert M. Greenfield, representing majority bondholders of the Bellevue, said management has agreed to arbitrate all issues except wage increases. Greenfield urged striking employees to wait until the hotels are granted OPA price relief on rentals before pressing for wage increases.

Meanwhile, the truck drivers refused to cross picket lines to make coal deliveries to the hotels. Bucher said the drivers decision not to cross the picket lines came shortly after engine room crews at the Bellevue banked their fires and joined the walkout.

The Bellevue announced that rooms and water were still being heated although no meals were being served and public events had been cancelled. Many guests left out those who remained were obliged to make their own beds and furnish their own services generally.

The walkout began last Thursday at the Majestic and spread to the Bellevue on Friday and to the Sylvania on Saturday.

Sylvania Income Is Down For Quarter Ending in September

Consolidated net income of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., and its wholly owned subsidiaries for the quarter ended September 30, 1946 amounted to $386,098, equal after the deducting preferred dividends to 28 cents per share on the 1,003,000 outstanding shares of common stock. This compares with consolidated net income of $529,683 or 32 cents per common share for the third quarter of 1945.

A federal income tax credit amounting to $333,000 was taken in the third quarter. This credit, plus the tax credit of $330,000 taken in the first six months, represents 75 per cent of the estimated carry-back credit for the year. The carry-back credit arises from the operating loss experienced by one of the company's subsidiaries.

The report states that production in the third quarter was restricted by shortages of parts for some products. This factor together with inadequate price relief, increased costs of materials and the fact that the annual vacation period came within the quarter all affected earnings adversely.

The company reports that it is now receiving more normal shipments from suppliers and that consequently production is currently on a much more satisfactory basis. A 14 per cent increase in the selling price of radio tubes was granted by O. P. A. a factor which will affect profits favorably during the remainder of the year.

Consolidated net sales for the three months ended September 30, 1946 were $16,774,353 compared with $24,443,914 in the corresponding period of 1945.

For the nine months ended September 30, 1946, net income was $824,566 equal after preferred dividends to 65 cents per share on the common stock, compared with $2,125,291 or $2.11 per share in the nine months' period this year. For the nine months' period this year, credits total $683,000 applicable to the subsidiary which experienced an operating loss.

Consolidated net sales for the nine months ended September 30, 1946, amounted to $44,962,081 compared with $100,254,788 in the similar period of 1945.

From reconversion reserves set aside to cover the cost of conversion to peacetime production, the company used $301,786 in the third quarter and $1,320,158 for the nine months.

In order to meet a great increase in product demand and to finance the necessary increases in facilities and inventories, the company recently executed a $10,000,000 credit agreement whereby it can borrow up to this amount prior to December 31, 1947 for a five year term at 2 per cent. Under this agreement it has borrowed $5,000,000 at this time.

No Decision As Yet On Plant At Youngsville

Corry, Nov. 4.—The Corry-Jamestown Mfg. Corp. is considering a long-range future expansion program which may result in the building of a large additional plant in this city or in Youngsville, it was learned today.

The management of the corporation this morning confirmed the rumors which have been current for several weeks but said that the plans are still in a merely tentative stage and that no definite decision has been reached.

Rumors of the development first appeared here from Youngsville where it was said that the Corry concern was considering a 14-acre tract adjacent to railroad facilities. This week, it appears that the Youngsville Business Men's Association has taken definite steps to acquire that property which has been offered free of cost to the Corry concern. The action was taken at a session in which a special committee was named to handle the project.

David A. Hillstrom, president and general manager of the Corry-Jamestown Mfg. Corp., said this morning that the firm contemplates eventual erection of a large, single story plant designed to provide special production line facilities for the present products of the corporation and a new line which is in the development stage.

Mr. Hillstrom said that there is no intention to abandon or discontinue one of the large plants now operating in this city, which are to be continued, but that the firm funds itself virtually landlocked as regards the intended development. At the same time, no final decision has been reached on the Youngsville location and Corry-Jamestown has taken options on two large parcels in this city, with a prospect that the new plant, when built, may be added to their local holdings and all of the production activity retained in this city.

MAN RAISES HIS ARMS ABOVE HIS HEAD FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

A few days ago a man said the rheumatic pains in his arms and shoulders disappeared and now he can raise his arms above his head for the first time in years. He said the pains he used to have from this rheumatism were simply awful. Sometimes his knees and hips were stiff and sore, but the pains were mostly in the back of his neck and across his shoulders. Now, however, his suffering is entirely gone and he says the change is due to taking RHU-AID. "Oh! What relief!" states this man. "Why don't other rheumatic sufferers get RHU-AID?"

RHU-AID is a new formula. It contains Three Great Ingredients, so it is almost like taking three medicines in one. It goes right to the source of rheumatic aches and pains. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get RHU-AID. Sold by All Drug Stores here in Warren.

Air Mail Week Was Big Success

Postmaster Bell told a representative of the Times-Mirror this morning that the volume of mail dispatched from this office by air during National Air Mail Week reached a new high for the year. He also expressed his thanks to the patrons of the Warren office for their fine cooperation in making this event a success.

The post office department, in announcing that an increased volume of letters sent by air is necessary in order to make the new five cent rate practicable, has asked for continued support of the public so as to stimulate the use of this cheaper, faster and better service. For best results use air mail to points 100 miles or more from Warren.

Death Claims Well Known Store Buyer

Lewis C. LeVan, a resident of Warren for the past forty years, passed away late Sunday afternoon at the Harley Nursing Home, Fremont street.

For the past twenty-six years Mr. LeVan has been the buyer of housewares for the Metzger-Wright Company. He was an active member of the Presbyterian church, having served as an elder for a number of years. A host of friends will mourn his death.

Mr. LeVan was born in Copely, Pa., April 8, 1872. He attended school at Tonganoxie, Kansas, Friends Academy, and the University of Kansas. Coming back east, his first position was on an oil lease in Waterville, Ohio, but he soon joined the firm of S. S. Bryan Hardware Company in Tuscarora. From 1894 to 1900 he owned a bicycle store in Tuscarora. In 1900 Kansas attracted him once more.

Saddle Club Field Meet In Pleasant Is Pleasing Event

The field meet of the Foothills Saddle Club, held Saturday afternoon at the Harry Lewis Farm in Pleasant township, was a great success. The meet was for club members only and there were many fine horses present to participate in the contest.

First grand prize was won by Gold Dust, owned by Bob Weakley; second grand prize was won by Sonny, owned by Ted Maniakas.

The activities got under way with a grand march led by Ted Maniakas, on Sonny, carrying the American flag.

The first class, Western Pleasure, got off to a grand start with ten entries. Always a popular class, these horses and their riders were a pleasure to watch. First ribbon went to Gold Dust, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Don Turner; second, Sonny, owned and ridden by Ted Maniakas; third to Sir Lancelot, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Lorraine Belz; fourth to Nipper, owned and ridden by Adam Beltz.

The second class, English Pleasure, also a very popular class, displayed some very beautiful horses and excellent riders. First ribbon went to Pumpkin, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Barbara Conway; second to Highland Laddie, owned and ridden by Virginia Johnson; third to Warren Silver Dare, owned and ridden by Virginia Hale; fourth to Good Red, owned and ridden by Harry Lewis, Jr.

The next class was Western jumping, first ribbon being easily won by Nipper. This horse, owned and expertly ridden by Adam Beltz, is without doubt one of the most sensational jumpers in this section of the country. Second ribbon went to Cotton, owned and ridden by Evelyn Lindsey; third to Chocolate, owned by the Clark Riding Academy and ridden by Howard Johnson; fourth to Highland Laddie, owned and ridden by Virginia Leigh Johnson.

Children's Equitation class, with seven entries, was won by Evelyn Lindsey, an excellent rider, on Cotton; second was Corky Jones, on Honey, owned by Mrs. Ed Walker; third was Carole Hendrickson, on Clark; and fourth was Sandra Clark, on Dusty, from the Clark Riding Academy.

The Novelty Saddle Race which followed was a fine show of horsemanship, and four of the best riders in the club brought their horses over the finish line as follows: Gold Dust first, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Don Turner; second, Nigger, owned and ridden by Bob Spencer; third, Sonny, owned and ridden by Ted Maniakas; fourth, Honey, owned by Mrs. Ed Walker and ridden by Corky Jones.

First ribbon in the Stock Horse class went to Honey, owned by Mrs. Ed Walker and ridden by Corky Jones; second to Gold Dust, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Don Turner; third to Sir Lancelot, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Lorraine Belz; fourth to Sonny, owned and ridden by Ted Maniakas.

The Ladies Novelty Race was quite exciting, first ribbon going to Misty Moon, owned and ridden by Bette Nelson; second to Cotton, owned and ridden by Evelyn Lindsey; third to Sir Lancelot, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Lorraine Belz; fourth to Highland Laddie, owned and ridden by Virginia Leigh Johnson.

Knock Down and Out gave Nipper another chance to show those other horses how to jump. With his owner, Adam Beltz, up, he came through again to win first ribbon, with Cotton, owned and ridden by Evelyn Lindsey, winning second.

The Musical Chair class was pretty rough but there were no casualties. First ribbon was won by Sonny, owned and ridden by Ted Maniakas; second by Nipper, owned and ridden by Adam Beltz; third to Honey, owned by Mrs. Ed Walker and ridden by Corky Jones; fourth by Gold Dust, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Don Turner.

The final class, a Balloon Race, brought the meet to an exciting close. Winners in this class were as follows: first, Gold Dust, owned by Bob Weakley and ridden by Don Turner; second, Sonny, owned and ridden by Ted Maniakas; third, Cotton, owned and ridden by Evelyn Lindsey; fourth, Misty Moon, owned and ridden by Bette Nelson.

Judging of the classes was justly and expertly handled by John Lindsey and Kenneth Anderson; and Bill Pimlott handled the "mike" as only Bill can do those things.

Members were so enthusiastic over the success of their first field meet that they are already talking of putting on a real horse show next year.

There was a large crowd to enjoy the dancing Wednesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall at the firemen's annual ball. The Ecce orchestra furnished the music for round and square dancing.

The firemen, who are always working for the good of the community, appreciated the support they received in attendance and also those who did not attend but sent gifts.

Through College on $10,000 a Year or the success story of Willie S. Livengood

HOW ABOUT IT MR. GOVERNOR?

$10,000 a year salary as your Secretary of Internal Affairs is a lot of spending money for Willie Livengood to be collecting while he attends day classes at Dickinson College as a full time law student . . .

It's a lot of money for the taxpayers to pay even in a State which boasts of a $200,000,000 surplus while thousands of veterans go homeless and cannot get into a college ON THEIR OWN TIME.

HOW ABOUT IT MR. GOVERNOR?

Your Administration is generous to a fault when it can afford to permit Mr. Livengood to ride to and from school in a State-owned limousine driven by a chauffeur to whom the State pays $3000 more a year as an "Administrative Assistant."

And isn't it about time that you tell the chauffeur that he can't go to Dickinson Law School on the State's time, either? When are you going to take action to recover this public money illegally expended?

In four years Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, Jr., has drawn $40,000 in salary from the State Treasury. He has had free use of a fine State-owned limousine driven by a State-paid chauffeur with free trips to New York and Philadelphia and all expenses paid by you—the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

Supposedly he was working full time for the taxpayers . . . actually a large part of that time he was and still is attending full time law classes as a day student . . . and so is his State-paid chauffeur.

No wonder this devoted public servant is running for re-election on the Republican ticket with Governor Martin. The "Pot o' Gold" radio program doesn't pay off half so well.

The public wants some action taken with respect to Mr. Livengood, Mr. Governor, just as they would like to know the deal behind the $36,853 summer mansion at Indiantown Gap that you built during the war and which you rent for the princely sum of $40 a month. Thousands of citizens are unable to rent any kind of a house for $40 a month, let alone a $36,000 mansion. This is in addition to the mansion the State provides for your use at Harrisburg and your own mansion at Washington, Pa.

While Secretary of Internal Affairs Livengood was attending college at public expense, Sgt. Al Schmid, Democratic candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, was on Guadalcanal fighting it out with the Japs.

Sgt. Schmid can go to school, too: The G. I. Bill of Rights provides for that. But it does not provide that a man can go on time the State pays for. It doesn't provide a $10,000 year State salary and a free chauffeur-driven limousine and free trips to Broadway . . .

It provides only $90 A MONTH . . . not the $833 a month which Republican Secretary of Internal Affairs Livengood draws now.

How about it, Mr. Governor?
Isn't it time that Pennsylvania's taxpayers receive a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's worth of salary.

Tell the Martin Administration that the veterans and taxpayers have had enough—

Elect Sgt. Schmid Secretary of Internal Affairs on the Democratic Ticket

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot (Written for NEA Service)

(1) As World War II flared in Europe in the fall of 1939, America took hasty inventory of its weapons and found its air forces sadly deficient. The Lockheed P-38, Bell P-39 and Curtiss P-40, though several years old, were the best U. S. fighter planes. The Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress was the best of the American bombers. The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, stirred the nation to record armament production.

(2) Spacious aircraft factories blossomed into existence almost overnight, in the drive to turn out 50,000 planes annually. Military flight training was greatly expanded, and by the end of 1943 the nation's pilot quotas were being filled. Widely scattered battle-fronts inspired new methods to be used in solving the problems of modern warfare. The Army Air Forces borrowed veteran pilots and transport planes from the nation's air lines while it trained its own men and spread a network of air supply lines over the face of the earth.

(3) Before the United States entered the war, many of its adventurous and air-minded young men had joined the air forces of other countries, forming such famous fighting groups as the Eagle Squadron in England and the Flying Tigers in China. Americans in the Eagle Squadron of the Royal Air Force flew "Spitfires," repelling the powerful raids of the German Luftwaffe though overwhelmingly outnumbered. They helped the RAF save England from destruction. In China the American Volunteer Group, under Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, held the Jap air force at bay with three small squadrons of patched-up P-40s.

(4) The first daring bombing raid on Tokyo in 1942, led by Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, marked an important advance in modern warfare. A feat believed impossible was successfully carried out by 16 North American B-25 medium bombers, which took off from the confined flight deck of a Navy aircraft carrier. Two years later the famous Boeing B-29's Superfortresses, began raiding Tokyo, contributing greatly to Japan's defeat. With pressurized cabins for crew members, the huge B-29's had centralized fire control of their defense guns and a flying range which made any city on the globe vulnerable to air attack.

OPA — WHAT'S LEFT OF IT

While 1,642 Local Price Control Boards are folding up today, James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington, says "this does not mean the end of OPA now." He says there'll still be some price ceilings.

To control them, OPA will keep 61 district offices running.

And rent ceilings stand, unchanged. OPA will keep its 650 area rent control offices running to sit on rents.

But from now on keeping the lid on retail prices—the prices which you, the consumer, pay—is a lot tougher.

By this action—scrapping 1,642 local price control boards and dumping the whole load of retail price control on 61 district offices—OPA is greatly weakened. For that reason chiselers will have a far better chance to gyp you. Watch out.

Here are some of the items which the public will find still under price ceilings. If you have doubts about the prices on them, get in touch with your nearest OPA district office.

The list includes:

- Building materials and lumber.
- Most textiles and clothing. (Clothing should have on it a retail ceiling price tag attached by the retailer or manufacturer).
- Most heavy consumer durable goods such as household mechanical refrigerators, washing machines, electric ranges, vacuum cleaners, cooking and heating stoves, floor coverings, and bedding goods like springs and mattresses.

(Most of the items listed in the paragraph above also are supposed to have ceiling price tags put on them by the retailer or manufacturer).

Most major items of household furniture. (Again, most of the furniture is supposed to have ceiling tags).

Farm machinery and equipment. (Some of it is supposed to be tagged with price ceiling. But the district offices have a complete list).

Automobiles, most automobile tires and other rubber items. (But these are not specifically tagged).

Solid fuels, such as coal and coke. (OPA from time to time has issued area prices).

Services like laundering and dry cleaning. (Check your district office if in doubt.)

DO YOUR DUTY TOMORROW

The first duty of every red-blooded American, regardless of party affiliation or his attitude toward individual candidates or election arguments, should be to go to the polls tomorrow and cast his ballot.

Tuesday will be a holiday for many, especially clerical workers such as bankers, state and federal employees. Too many treat an election as a holiday and become too busy occupied in their enjoyment of the day to go to the polls. On the day's agenda, regardless of other plans, every qualified voter should make it a point to cast his ballot.

Tomorrow Pennsylvanians will elect a United States senator, governor, lieutenant-governor and secretary of internal affairs.

In district contests they will choose 33 members of congress, 208 state representatives and 25 state senators. Eligible to vote in Warren county are 16,049 citizens. Of these 11,672 are Republican; 3,927 Democrats; 250 non-partisan and 196 Prohibition. In the state there are 2,724,554 registered Republicans, 1,838,647 Democrats and 60,956 voters registered in minor parties.

The 8,661 polling places will be open from seven a. m., until eight p. m.

This is an off-year election. Which means: A congressional election between presidential elections: The presidential elections of 1944 and 1948.

Do your duty tomorrow. Cast your vote in one of the most important off-year elections in the history of the nation!

People who are tired of waiting in line will go to the polls as early as possible to avoid last-minute rush of voters.

Any day now motorists will be flocking to service stations to have radiators treated with anti-freeze.

A person is likely to get sick of everything when satisfied to let well enough alone.

Thanksgiving is but three weeks off. Ordered that turkey yet?

Get out the vote!

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1936

The inclement weather which served to welcome election day evidently frightened away the voters or else kept them in until afternoon for at two o'clock this afternoon there had been but 922 votes cast within the limits of Warren, Pa.

The local post office has received a supply of the new two-cent stamps issued in commemoration of the Battle of White Plains, 1776. The stamps are centered with a picture depicting a portion of the battle.

G. Gifford Smith Company have on display in one of their windows a very unique advertisement for a brand of linoleum which the brand. The display consists of a miniature house placed on a rug of the linoleum, basin shaped to hold a quantity of water, and supported a distance above the house is a spigot from which water gushes at a rapid rate. People have tried to vainly to figure just how the linoleum base keeps from overflowing.

Stamp News

A SOLDIER helping a child over a stile is the basic design of New Zealand's 1946 postage stamps. New Zealand's Post Office Director General reports the design was selected to portray the return of the soldiers to peacetime pursuits and particularly to extending to children a helping hand along the road to health.

The background of the new stamps shows a typical New Zealand countryside. The foreground includes minor indications of defense precautions to carry out the theme of the soldier assisting the child to step from an atmosphere of war into one of peace. Values and colors are one plus one-half pence green with a brown background, and two plus one pence dark brown and light brown.

The stamps were scheduled for initial sale Oct. 24.

A 48-YEAR-OLD grammatical error on Sudan's postage stamps is about to be corrected, according to the Library of Congress in Washington. The library credits a staff member, Dr. Harold W. Glidden, with spotting the mistake.

Dr. Glidden, chief of the Library's Near East Section, noticed that the printed Arabic of a stamp on a letter he received from Sudanese friends erroneously used the singular form of the Arabic word for pistachio. He called the attention of his friends to the error, and they informed G. W. Ogden, director of posts and telegraphs in the Sudan.

Ogden has written Dr. Glidden that a check has disclosed that the error exists on all of Sudan's "camel" stamps issued since 1898 and plans are under way to replace such stamps. The error also was found on airmail stamps printed between 1931 and 1938, according to the Library.

LIGHTHOUSES are the subject of new stamps issued by Brazil and Finland. Brazil's stamp is a five cruzeiro blue-green picturing the proposed Columbus Lighthouse to be erected at Ciudad Trujillo in the Dominican Republic. Finland has issued an eight-markka purple stamp showing a 17th century lighthouse with a two-masted sailing vessel in the background. The Brazilian stamp is an addition to the series of Columbus Lighthouse stamps issued by Pan-American nations in recent years. The Finnish stamp bears the dates "1696-1946" and marks the 250th anniversary of lighthouse service in Finland.

REDUCTION of United States airmail postage rates to five cents Oct. 1 resulted in a new overprint on airmail stamped envelopes. Excess stocks of the six-cent stamped envelopes were overprinted with the words "Reduced 5c P. O. Dept." The provisional envelopes were sent to army post offices abroad for use of servicemen. The Post Office Department reports that some 17,000,000 envelopes received the overprint.

EGYPT has overprinted its 30-mill green airmail stamp (Scott's C37) with an Arabic inscription to mark the PICAQ (Provisional International Civil Aeronautics Organization) regional air navigation conference which opened in Cairo early in October. The conference was called to consider special air navigation problems in the middle east.

Hallowe'en Carnival Very Successful

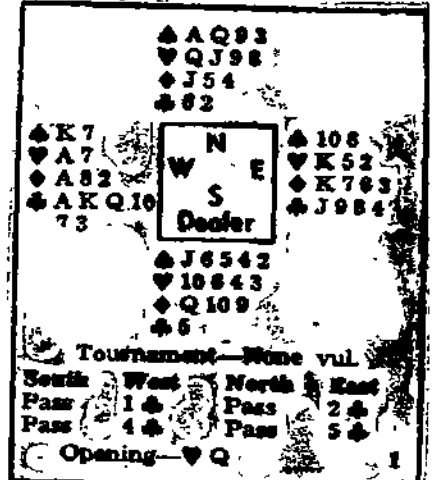

The annual Hallowe'en carnival staged last week by the North Warren Civic Club attracted a large crowd to the community house Saturday evening for the closing events on the interesting program. The children's masquerade parade in the afternoon proved a happy event for the little tots and the adults who turned out for the occasion.

During the evening awards were made to the following: 1947 Plymouth Sedan, courtesy of C. C. Smith, to Allan L. Johnson, Warren; Cedar Chest to Jessie Marks, Warren; electric refrigerator to George Lesser, North Warren; electric toaster to Charlotte Carlett, Youngsville, and an electric iron to Ray Carmony, Clarendon. Judges were: William Moore, Jamestown, N. Y.; Oscar Lawson, Youngsville; F. E. Weaver, Irvine; Mrs. Verna Hiles, Wesleyville, and James Stewart, Warren.

The committee takes this means of expressing sincere appreciation for interest and assistance shown by a large number of patrons in North Warren and surrounding communities, without which the carnival would not have been the success that it was.

PASSING UP FIRST TRICK CINCHES GAME

A new event will be inaugurated this year at the Winter National Tournament at the Hollywood Beach Hotel, Hollywood, Fla., namely, the men's national team-of-four championship. It will be held on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, Dec. 11 and 12, concurrently with the national women's team-of-four championship.

The men's pair championship has for years been considered one of the finest of all tournament events and, undoubtedly, had it not been for the war, a men's team-of-four would have been started long ago.

Now with all the bridge players planning to attend this winter vacation tournament in Florida, there should be plenty of men on hand to make this a popular event. To win a men's championship, a player has to be on his toes, just as the declarer was on today's hand from the knockout team-of-four contest. West could have made four no trump without any trouble, but the 100 honors influenced the bidding because in knockout team-of-four play, honors are still counted.

At the five-club contract West's natural play would seem to be to win the queen of hearts and pick up the clubs, but this would mean losing two spades and a diamond.

This declarer allowed the first heart trick could hold and now the hand could not be beaten. A diamond was discarded on the king of hearts and the fourth diamond established for declarer to get rid of the losing spade.

Although this looks like a double dummy play, the establishment of the fourth card of a suit is the type of play for which all experts are constantly on the alert.

For a Better World

Seems we were so busy with Girl Scout Week, 4-H Achievement Week, United Nations Week, Letter-writing and Airmail weeks—we completely lost track of the fact October 27-November 2 was Better Parenthood Week. Writing exclusively for the P Newsfeatures used by the Times-Mirror, Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the U. S. Children's Bureau, says Better Parenthood Week might very well be a time to consider what is to be required of us in preparing our children for tomorrow's world, a time in which they will have much pioneering to do. Today's youth is coming of age in a time of tremendous change. Our young people are going to need a real conviction about what freedom means. They will need it not solely in terms of their own personal freedom, important as that is, but in terms of the fullest possible freedom of one's fellowmen. With such a conviction will come a sense of social responsibility. It will call for the individual's support of those forces everywhere in the world today that are working toward justice and brotherhood in human affairs. If, then, we can impart today to our children that abiding conviction of worth of man, and that sense of responsibility—and stamina built into them to see it through—then we shall have done our best to prepare them for tomorrow's world. Upon the family rests the greatest part of the responsibility for well-equipping youth for what lies ahead, for it is in the home that the values children live by are moulded. It is from parents and the way they meet their own responsibility to the family and the community that youth learns.

Henry Marymont
Wed To Harrisburg
Girl On Saturday

Paxton Presbyterian church at Paxtang was the setting, at 11 a. m. Saturday, for the marriage of Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, Kerna, daughter of Mrs. S. A. Kirkpatrick, 317 Third street, New Cumberland, and the late Mr. Kirkpatrick, to Henry C. Marymont, of Warren.

The Rev. Morton G. Gilie, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the two families and there were no attendants.

Yesterday Is Nowhere
By BEATRICE MURPHY

Chapter 6

SUDDENLY Niel laughed at the colossal impudence of it all.

There was a nervous twitch of anger to the man's shoulder.

"There are ways of making a man talk," he said harshly. "Personally I'm adverse to physical violence. I prefer the indirect approach between people of intelligence." Niel returned his look steadily. "Indirect to the point of absurdity. Freya's husband is already out of the concentration camp and in a hospital."

"In a hospital, yes . . . do you know in what kind of condition, captain?"

"The worst possible probably," said Niel bitterly, "one could rely on the Nazis for that."

"Exactly. And the least suggestion of a threat, or fear of insecurity will shatter his mental balance. But of course that will not happen if you give us the names of the men who negotiated far you, the names that never reached the newspapers. What do you say?"

"I say you need higher cards in your hand before you call me."

The man rose and strode to the fireplace to poke viciously at the logs; his hand gripping the poker was white across the knuckles. He's clever, thought Niel, to use Freya and Ernst but he's trying to bluff me. Those names can't possibly be of much importance. There's something else behind it that he doesn't want me to see.

"If it's not asking too much," he said with a brightness that grated even on his ears, "could I be thrown back into my dungeon?"

Conrad was on his feet immediately and the other turned to look at them both. Whatever was passing from his eyes was beyond Niel but he saw a flush well up in Conrad's cheeks.

"You too seem anxious to leave Conrad." Bitterness held sway.

"I am."

The man turned away with a clipped formal goodnight but when they reached the door he called out:

"It may influence your decision, Mr. Dana, to know that Madame Runstedt lives nearby." A wave of dizziness engulfed Niel but he went to the bottom of the staircase before he glanced back. The man leaned against the mantel, his head buried in his arms. Then he felt Conrad's hand on his shoulder.

"Are you all right?"

"Yes . . . does Freya live nearby?"

"Yes. Come upstairs."

In silence they went up through the lounge and down the dimly lighted hall. The guard was gone.

"Don't bother to bring breakfast," said Niel, "I'd rather sleep late."

"Do you want something to help you sleep?"

"No. I've some thinking to do."

"Better just sleep . . . goodnight." Niel's gesture stopped him.

"Is Freya well?" His voice sounded unnaturally hoarse. He felt sweat on his upper lip. Conrad nodded, pity in his eyes—whether for him or Freya he could not tell.

"She is still her old self. Please, no more questions."

Suddenly Niel's self imposed reserve deserted him, he offered his hand. Instantly he felt a strong responsive clasp, then their hands fell apart and Conrad quickly closed the door.

PHYSICALLY and mentally weary Niel slouched in the deep chair near the fireplace. The insecurity of everything he had up till now taken for granted swooped down on him, scurrying his thoughts here and there, now forward, now backward from the probable to the impossible. But it was useless. Half-dazed he went to the bed, dragging off his tunic, to the bed where the quilted coverlet was foreign to all his conceptions of a bed-cover. Well he was in Germany for sure, but where in Germany? Suddenly his hands were dragging down the quilt and pillows to pull back the mattress.

Gradually the feeling of being slowly smothered left him. Now his escape was so much in his own hands the possibility of failure was beyond acceptance. Something must happen soon they couldn't keep him in this room forever.

He dozed and slipped into a troubled sleep—into a dream of Freya staggering with him through the snow, trailed by a dog, with a masked face for head, held in leash by Conrad whose eyes shot blue flame ahead. Every now and then Conrad jerked the leash and the dog reared up and tumbled in confusion in the snow.

Chapter 7

his compressed lips gave him a stern, melancholy look. "What makes you talk like this?"

Slowly Niel answered: "Perhaps losing my own personal security has blacked out my conventional inhibitions, perhaps because I'm trapped in the one country in the world where my ideal of freedom is considered degenerate and perhaps too because Freya is so close when I never expected to find her for a long time." Conrad wheeled on him so close that he saw the reflection of his face in Conrad's eyes.

"Don't count on seeing her." Their eyes held.

"You must arrange it," begged Niel. "If it will do her no harm." He felt no shame in asking. Since last night knowing how close she was he craved to hear her voice, to feel again, the emotions of their close friendship.

"Don't let him guess how you feel," he pointed down significantly. "Believe me the less he hears her name the better. Do I impress that on you?" A dark finality in his voice pierced down to the hidden fear in Niel.

"Isn't she safe, she and Ernst both?"

"They'll be less safe if you insist on asking questions about her. Hush, he's coming." He had left the door unlocked and the sudden entrance of the masked man startled Niel into the same uneasiness he experienced during the past evening. Between himself and this man he felt a strange emotional involvement and he drew back as if from the deep current of a raging river. Even Conrad seemed different, more remote in his presence. The man advanced, his mastery of the situation hung like an aura around him.

"I HOPE I'm not intruding on your lunch, captain."

"You finished?" He noticed the man's voice held no German accent.

"Take my chair," offered Conrad, walking over to the window but watching them from the corner of one eye.

As the man sat down Niel

Pulses pounding he peered close to the frame of the headboard; he found what he was certain would be there in precise square letters—Heinrich Mueller, Freiburg, Germany.—God bless the German pride in handicraft! People didn't import this kind of bed far from the place of its making, so if he wasn't now, in Freiburg he would lay great odds that he was close to it. Those motifs that he admired formed a northern spur of the Swiss Alps and more than that, memory forced the door of his brain and he heard Freya's voice:

"Don't worry about me, Niel, darling. I can live in Father's old house in the river valley, near Freiburg. I have friends nearby."

Who were the friends—Conrad? Perhaps this man's wife? Now his head ached violently, his ears felt like burning coals. Every now and then he leaned back on the tumbled bed to doze, half awake half dreaming about the past; his father and mother, Freya giving a piano recital in Carnegie Hall, a thousand things fleeting across his mind and people, and rain storms and train trips and rainy conversations. But he would sit up again, necessity rousing him from escapist stupor. What defense had he against these men? He needed a gun, a knife, some thing with which to destroy, ever to kill if killing became essential. Even if he got out how far could he hope to go if the house was guarded?

Gradually the feeling of being slowly smothered left him. Now his escape was so much in his own hands the possibility of failure was beyond acceptance. Something must happen soon they couldn't keep him in this room forever.

He dozed and slipped into a troubled sleep—into a dream of Freya staggering with him through the snow, trailed by a dog, with a masked face for head, held in leash by Conrad whose eyes shot blue flame ahead. Every now and then Conrad jerked the leash and the dog reared up and tumbled in confusion in the snow.

Chapter 7

HE awakened to radiant afternoon sunshine and the effect was good because in the river valley not very far away was Freya, and Ernst was still alive. Just as he finished dressing Conrad arrived with some soup and coffee.

"I'll have some tea with you," he said cheerfully as Niel started on the soup.

"How long have you known Freya?" asked Niel abruptly. Conrad sat motionless for such a long time he didn't think he intended to answer so he started to eat again until their eyes meeting made him stop.

"Most of my life," said Conrad heavily.

"And she never told me. I can't understand that. We are near Freiburg, aren't we?"

"How did you know?"

"It's marked on the bed."

"That's one for you," grinned Conrad.

"I'd like to see Freya, you could arrange it."

"You don't understand."

"It's impossible!"

"When a man understands why he wants to do a thing it becomes less impossible." The impact of this meaning shattered Conrad's reserve.

"Don't talk like this," he said impatiently, "it's sheer nonsense I can't do it." The way he spoke Niel knew he wanted to do it.

"I have no influence with them," he went on. "I'm a surgeon. I studied ten years to be a surgeon and that's what I am. All I want to be."

"But you can't always hide yourself in your work," insisted Niel passionately. "Personal security is everyone's business, and sooner or later each of us has to fight for his own little portion."

For a moment Conrad looked down at his hands, long slender fingers clenched as if it would be a relief to smash something and adroitly walked behind him to get the tobacco jar from the mantel. Visibly the man stiffened. Niel thought, he's none too trusting. He glanced down at the back of his neck where the tanned skin was smooth and healthy, dark brown hair growing in an upward sweep. He was a young man. Facing him once more Niel looked straight through the narrow eyes of his mask.

"My mask bothers you, M. Dana?"

Niel heard the quick intake of Conrad's breath before he spoke coolly: "It's rather a melodramatic touch."

The man laughed. "Be that it may. I did not come to discuss my mask . . . I've been thinking about your friendship with Madame Runstedt. As a pause Conrad frowned and shook his head at Niel. "It occurs to me, went on the man, "that she risked at some time have mentioned your name of Steiner, Fra. Steiner."

The name did not register once with Niel then it struck him with a violence almost physical. Steiner the composer. Freya's teacher.

"But it wasn't Franz," he murmured aloud. "It was Stefa. Steiner, the composer. He lives near Freya when she was a girl. The man nodded."

"And you are—"

"His foster son. My wife is his daughter. I am Franz Steiner."

Niel surveyed him calmly. "The name means nothing, my boy,

Crocker's 50-Yard Chuck To Ted Shattuck In Last Three Minutes Wins for Dragons

The Warren High Dragons sound by their 1946 football season as the most thrilling games seen on Russell Field this season, as the Dragons emerging a 13-7 victor over the Corry Beavers Saturday afternoon. The game was one of those where the coaches run up and down the sidelines and the fans jump up and down on the bleachers.

"Buzz" Crocker was carried on the field on the shoulders of the players as the hero of the game, after having pitched a 50-yard touchdown pass to Ted Shattuck and a 14 yard aerial to Ed Leonard along with a 15 yard end run, all in the last three minutes of play. Crocker and Shattuck first pulled this combination in the Junior-Senior game last Wednesday after school when the two teams tied 6-6. Crocker then pitched three passes to Shattuck, the first starting deep in the Junior's own territory. All three aerials were taken by Shattuck.

the last being a 25 yard pitch that went for a touchdown. "You guys go down and I'll chuck you one," says Crocker, and he did just that. Crocker pitched from his own 42 and the ball sailed down the field to Shattuck, who took it over his head on the 22, his long legs carrying him the rest of the way, aided by a beautiful block thrown by a Warren player that eliminated the last would-be tackler. The ball went 36 yards in the air, including the distance Crocker stood behind the scrimmage line. Crocker also plunged for the extra point, the whole line going over ahead of him. The ball shifted back and forth through the remaining minute and a half of the game after this game-winning touchdown play.

Ed Leonard did all the starring up to these last three minutes of play, picking up 45 yards, mostly through the line, in the first Warren drive that was stalled on the Corry eleven when Leonard was tackled fast around the neck and thrown for a two yard loss. Corry got the ball when the last down failed to find the ball over the

Passing Attack Accounts For Fast Sheffield Scoring

NELSON STAR OF SMHS

Sheffield, one of Warren county's extremists, finished its season sporting a beautiful record, the last win being a 10-12 victory over the St. Marys Dutchmen at Sheffield Saturday afternoon.

Ridgway was the only team this season to dent the Wolverines' record, doing so with a 12-0 score. The Elfers also added to Warren's troubles with a 20-18 win but were held by the other extreme in Warren county to a scoreless tie. The wins captured by Sheffield were two over Youngsville and one from Johnsonburg, Corry, Smithport, and Kane.

The Wolverines, with almost all of their star players on the comeback list for two more years, are anticipating their coming season to at least equal that of this year. It is an established fact that the Wolverines have completely outshone all other Warren county teams this season, mainly through getting the breaks and taking advantage of them. Good hard playing is also a big factor that has kept the Wolverines in the win column steadily.

The Orange and Black completely surprised the highly touted Dutchmen by pulling off two fast scores in the first five minutes of play. The first score came when Gundy Steffan heaved one to Chuck Shick. Shick lateraled

"Dink" Luvison starred for the Red and White in their ground drive that netted them 271 yards and ten first downs. It is stated by the reporter that "He looked like a madman in that game," and that he gained close to 200 yards through his efforts. Luvison, who did everything for the Eagles except the line and around end," is another pet phrase used by the reporter in his description of the "Human Tornado."

Warren Red Jerseyed Pros Sweep Sharon Merchants 19 To 0 In Victory Retaliation

Yielding only three first downs and playing heads up ball all afternoon the Warren Red Jerseys swept Sharon Merchants aside yesterday, 19 to 0, to register their 7th victory, and to even matters with the visitors who early in the season edged out the locals, 7 to 3.

Giving the Sharon speed boys little opportunity to get started Warren retained possession of the ball practically all of the time, and only on a few occasions did the Merchants even hit Warren territory, and never penetrating it deep enough to cause much concern.

Right from the start though it was a swell game for the spectators, with the Jackets scoring in the first quarter, and, as usual, coming back stronger in the second half to tally in both the third and fourth quarters, and keeping Sharon from making a first down in the half.

A forward pass. Check to Pollock, over the line gave the Jackets the lead after Bivona had given the Jackets the ball on Sharon's 30. Funair contributed a 7 yard gain. Bivona hit for 4 to the 19 and Check's pass to Unterleiner was good for a first down and a setup for the score.

There was no further scoring the first half, Warren failing to come through on several good chances. On one, Haines let a touchdown pass from Check get

There will be at least four more home games, and possibly five, with the fifth depending a lot on the kind of weather we are having toward the end of the month. The season, however, may end on Thanksgiving day, with a chance that McKeesport may be booked for a return engagement, which would certainly be welcomed by all the fans.

The Red Jackets executed a couple of new plays Sunday, and they all clicked. At one time Funair came "out of no where" to go for a nice gain. The lateral in the fourth, with four ball handlers taking part was pretty, and that reverse, Funair and Unterleiner on a kick, was good for swell yardage.

Prudent, the colored Sharon quarter, looked good in snaring punts and kickoffs, several times getting hold of the ball on long angles, and reeling off good gains.

The Jackets have tightened up on their pass defense, and Sunday permitted only two out of 17 Sharon attempts, and, of these, no less than six were intercepted, proving the boys were in the right place at the right time.

Interceptions raised havoc for Sharon, with Funair and Martin each grabbing two, and Unterleiner and Bailey coming in for one apiece. These interceptions certainly contributed toward the whitewash.

Artie Amann recovered a fumble in the second, coming out from under a pile with possession of the ball on Sharon's 25 but the Jackets failed to score on this break, getting down to the 9 yard stripe.

THE LABOR RECORD OF JOHN S. RICE
The official figures for the Department of Labor and Industry for August, 1946, show an average rate of $1.039 an hour paid to the wage earners in all manufacturing plants in the State.

In the manufacturing plants covering food products the average rate paid was .903 cents an hour. In the paper and printing industry, in which the Rice plant may be included, the average wage rate was $1.033 per hour.

In the group of specialized manufacturing plants those firms not included in the classification covering principal industries, we find the average wage rate paid in the State for August was $.923.

In fact, in a comparison made between any group of Pennsylvania manufacturers, regardless of their classification, the Rice plant stands out as one of the few examples of great shop wage standards in Pennsylvania.

It should be noted that, a few weeks ago the Department of Highways, under Governor Martin's Administration, agreed with the Associated Pennsylvania Constructors and the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor to recognize a minimum rate of 90 cents an hour for common labor employed by contractors on new highway construction in Adams County, where the Rice plant is located.

We invite the workers of Pennsylvania—and the PAC in particular—to a study of these facts and figures.

On the basis of these findings we challenge the PAC to produce one single argument as to why any wage earner in Pennsylvania should vote for John S. Rice for Governor!

On the other hand, we demand that the PAC now publicly repudiate this man Rice or confess that it is more interested in playing to the Moscow party line wage standards than it is in the welfare of American working people.

The Labor Record Of John S. Rice

How Can Any Worker Support This Man . . . ?

John S. Rice, candidate for Governor, is sabotaging the labor movement in Pennsylvania by employing non-union workers at sub-standard wages.

Labor's Martin-Duff-Strickler-Livengood Committee reveals the following facts concerning the shocking labor record of John S. Rice:

First—John S. Rice is the only State-wide candidate of any party who is now operating a non-union manufacturing plant.

Second—The minimum wage scale for men and women in the John S. Rice factory, Trev & Rice with plant at Egbertville, Pa., is less than the lowest to be found in any part of Pennsylvania in manufacturing industry.

Before going into details concerning these offenses against decent labor standards, we would like to ask the PAC how it happens to be urging the workers of Pennsylvania to support a candidate with such a black and indefensible record as we show here against John S. Rice?

The Rice wage scales as we present herewith, may suit the Communist members of the PAC as comparable with those of Russia, but they are certainly disgracefully out of line with the standards of other manufacturers in Pennsylvania.

Here are the facts:

John S. Rice is one of the principal owners of the basket liner and package products manufacturing plants of Rice, Trev & Rice, at Egbertville, Pa., employing a seasonal average of 110 men and women. There is no labor organization of any type among its employees.

The minimum rate for Rice's women employees is 45 cents an hour.

The minimum rate for men is 55 cents an hour.

These compare with the lowest wage rates of any manufacturing plant in Pennsylvania.

Two Are Seriously Injured As Auto Crashed Into Culvert

As the result of a coupe driven by Ed Gesin, of Tidoute, sidwiping an automobile driven by Byron Anderson and then swerving into a concrete culvert on Route 62 below Irvine, two persons are in the Warren hospital suffering most serious injuries. They are Frank Morrison, 18, Tidoute, a passenger in the Gesin car, and Carl Rosequist, 22, Tidoute.

The accident took place about 5:30 Saturday afternoon and the men were brought to the hospital and admitted about 6:45. Gesin, driver of the coupe, was unconscious when admitted to the emergency room and he also had a small cut on the forehead and nose. He recovered consciousness and was discharged and returned to his home on Sunday.

Morrison is suffering from a compound fracture of the lower jaw and lacerations on the chin which required 24 sutures to close. His condition is serious.

Rosequist is also in a highly serious condition suffering from a deep laceration on the forehead and on his chin and left hand. He also sustained a fracture of the skull and broken right arm.

The accident took place when the coupe careened off the car driven by Anderson and into the culvert. Anderson's car was not damaged to any extent and none of its passengers was injured.

Election Day Weather To Be Cloudy and Rather Cool

When Warren county voters trek to the polls tomorrow the old weather man will provide them with some cloudy and cool weather, in fact about 20 degrees cooler than Sunday. There will be 11,672 Republicans; 3,927 Democrats; 251 Non-partisan and 196 Prohibitionists eligible to cast a vote Tuesday and an estimate places the vote at about 550% of the registration.

Election supplies have all been delivered by the County Election Board composed of the County Commissioners and all voting machines have been put in shape for use. The distribution of the election supplies is a large task and the work started last Thursday and each of the 51 precincts in the county now has its supplies.

Returns will be received at the Times-Mirror office Tuesday evening.

In Columbus township residents will vote on the question of installing voting machines at the polls.

GI Training Air Program Is Interrupted
The veterans air training program at the Warren Airport has been temporarily interrupted due to the inability to complete the work shop task in under construction at the local field within the time limits set by the C.A.A.

The C.A.A. regulation reads that in order to have an air agency certificate a work shop must be provided suitable to house a complete aircraft and must be heated and lighted. This permit has been cancelled but at the completion of the shop it can be renewed and a permanent certificate issued and GI training may again be resumed.

All veterans receiving this training at the School here are requested to report at the Airport Class Room at 5 p. m.; Wednesday evening November 6th when the status of the program as it now stands will be explained. This does not mean that the airport cannot conduct business as usual but does stop training as an approved air agency school until the requirements are met and approved.

Efforts have been made by the Town Council to get the shop erected and the steel work has been erected. Roofing and siding purchases have been stymied but the airport committee is hard at work on the proposition and will complete the building as soon as possible.

Phone System At Hospital Is Installed

Warren General Hospital announces the installation of its new telephone switchboard, which more than doubles the extensions in the hospital and increases the number of trunk lines available for calls. The system will provide for private room service rental of telephones in certain circumstances.

This installation is made in advance of the general building program, and with the new anesthesiology machine for maternity and other modern equipment is planned for the new hospital.

It will be remembered that last spring the community loyally supported the building campaign to the amount of $425,000 for new and enlarged facilities, which would be built at the earliest possible time. Overcrowding still continues. The building is more than ever needed and it will be built as soon as can be.

Materials and equipment are not yet available. Labor is not yet available in the community. No contractor today can bid on the project at any figure which is fair to the community's investment, and it may be another year before conditions will change.

Lawrie and Green architects are at this time finishing the details of the building plans, and these will be ready for immediate use when the contract can be let.
